Suckerpunch is a bit, well, interesting to say the least. I'll just get into the likes and did-not-likes just for the sake of brevity. What I don't like is the absence of quotation marks. I can tell Hernandez might be trying to create his own style, but removing a form of punctuation from your story is probably not the way to do it.

Suckerpunch by David Hernandez - Goodreads

David Hernandez is a web designer and a poet whose collections include Always Danger, winner of the Crab Orchard Series in Poetry, and A House Waiting for Music. He also wrote the novel Suckerpunch. He lives in Long Beach, California, with his wife, the writer Lisa Glatt. No More Us for You is his second novel.

Marcus Mendoza, aka Nub because of a severed index finger, narrates this hard-hitting and profane novel about parental abuse. From the opening sentence, the writing shocks, then mesmerizes readers, making its title an apt choice. Hernandez powerfully describes the harsh life of working poor families and their children as victims. Marcus imagines there are others like him, a "whole dissatisfied ...
