While I'm a firm believer of making a serious attempt of figuring something yourself first, sometimes the solutions really help to understand things better. I have requested access to the solutions from the publisher of "A first course in general relativity" by Schutz but was denied on the basis that I'm not employed with a university.

Schutz, Solutions Manual | Physics Forums

This textbook is a solution manual to almost 50% of the exercises in Bernard Schutz's "A first course in GENERAL RELATIVITY". In addition there are 125 Supplementary Problems for which I've provided detailed solutions to 62, the remaining 63 will have solutions for instructors only. The Table of Contents and Preface are available here.

A Student's Manual for A First Course in GENERAL RELATIVITY

The first four books were frequently consulted in the preparation of these notes, the next seven are other relativity texts which I have found to be useful, and the last four are mathematical background references. B.F. Schutz, A First Course in General Relativity (Cambridge, 1985) [*]. This is a very nice introductory text.
