So if you cannot consistently pass the practice exam with 100 percent - theres no way you're getting a 100 on the real test. One other note, you can take the first exam over, like a redo. You have to wait 48 hours after you take the first exam to redo it, but thats kind of nice. There is a learning curve to how they want their questions answered.

I am dumbfounded by the methods Straighterline and Saylor U use to test their students. I would rather take an essay test or write a paper than sort through the bizarre and unexplained multiple choice questions that are posed in the tests, so that I have the ability to explain the reasoning for my answers. Wow.
